The Remainder is a three part series set in the mysterious, uncharted areas of the world. After the events of TWEWY, Keiichi Yueda and his close friend and companion Eriko, have continued their travels to Eiyuuki, a small town in Hokkaido, Japan. As the only survivors of a nuclear attack, they now live under a strict security program that requires them to work as corporate mascots, flying up and down above the streets in the sky. Secretly, however, Keiichi can feel the scars from his ordeal; as a strong survivor of radiation, he must gain the help of a mysterious woman named Illar. In order to grant him her powerful abilities, Illar must steal the slumbering God-Dragon "Shinigami" from his rest. With the arrival of a bounty hunter, and with Keiichi's wife Yuki, also still alive, are they doomed to a fate of terrible bondage? The battle begins... Studies were performed to demonstrate that an early live attenuated vaccine of Aujeszky's disease virus (ADV) can interfere with a tissue culture propagated vaccine. The field strains (FSD-34) of ADV from free-ranging farmed rabbits, and the seed strain of the FSD-34 virus (Z3D) used in the studies, were isolated and maintained in rabbits. The results indicated that only cells inoculated with live ADV retained the protective effect of the vaccine in their interferon production. #2 By Banjosh-Dan Bahram, 0083131 Contributing Writer/Author: Banjosh-Dan Bahram, 0083131 Previous Content Excerpt The army of Burne Military Academy remained in an expectant silence, waiting for The General to deliver an order. The Master Psychic sat in his chair located in his office, watching the soldiers through a wide window at the top of the wall, deep in thought. The Master Psychic, knowing exactly how to go about the whole plan, devised a simple strategy. He set about planning out a battle plan, with a limited time of completion, not willing to wait too long for results in such a tough battle. Today would be the day he would take control. The General delivered the dreaded order while the army of Burne Military Academy cheered for their stupidity. The order told the army to lay down their weapons and get ready to begin a battle. The General explained that all the soldiers would be sent to The Sandbox, a nostalgic wasteland where the army could begin to become reanimated civilians for the new world. The General went on and explained that this was the most important battle of the war to date. The loss of life would be traded for the future of the people of this planet. A tear trickled down the suntanned face of The General as he finished his speech. It was clear that he was shaken by the situation. One might think that the army would be bothered by the order, but they acted in the way that they were taught, seeing this as the latest lesson that life was not so bad around the world. "Oooo... I hope our luck is about to change around," said a young soldier. "Too bad you entered and started to play my game just now. This would be the perfect time to jump in there... now!" said another soldier, making the other look uneasy. "I admit that I do not fully understand but I will never forget that I came to camp and was instructed to bring weapons, soldiers and not to bark like a dog," said another. The other three soldiers made a noise. They were all gathered at the back of the cave looking at a sign. Upon approaching the table The General started to instruct them; one soldier would grab their gun and hammer and the other two would take away their arms and legs so that they would become beggars in
